Argus at C. V.

Argus was a monster of Greek mythology,
Who had the sight of a hundred spies.
Who was part of Queen Hera's cosmology,
To check up on King Zeus' naughty eyes.

One day Queen Hera noticed a peculiar low lying cloud,
That stood out in a field of sunshine
Thinking only of her dignity, she rushed to that gaseous declivity.
To her wondering suspicious eyes she found
King Zeus with only a heifer that was bound.

But clever Hera was not so easily tricked,
For she saw through that heifer disguise but quick,
To find the soul not a heifer known to us
But the soul of beautiful Io, daughter of Inachus
Zeus was not his usual self, for wise Hera took the heifer for herself,
So to guard the disguised beautiful maid,
Hera assigned Argus whose hundred eyes could not be betrayed.

Mighty Zeus thwarted by Io's plight,
Sent cunning Mercury in swift flight.
Now Mercury knew his many talents
And his skills were known among gallants.

But he would not set his sights
To match Argus in strength or sleepless nights.
So he lulled to sleep each of the hundred
And as he struck off the head, it thundered.
Beautiful Io was set free of course
Was sent off by Zeus on a far away course.
Poor, poor, poor, Argus seemed to have met his end,
But clever Hera thought too much of the monster friend
She scattered his eyes in the peacock's tail
Where they can be found by anyone without fail.

Time, time, how rapid and so fast,
Argus is now just a figment of the bygone past.
And so I come to the part I like best,
Where we tell you about C. V. and Argus' new test
Argus has been transformed by time
But in this era he is no longer connected with crime
He is now a guide and protector at C. V. for '58
Where he was chosen by the seniors to prosper their fate
There's a hundred seniors in the class of '58
That means Argus will have an eye on you, old mate.
But I guess that's why we chose him to lead us and all that
For we knew that we would never, never be back.

MR. CHARLES R. SLAYBAUGH, Principal

D e d i c a t i o n

It is in deepest gratitude that we, the class of 1958, dedicate this yearbook to our principal, Mr. Charles R. Slaybaugh, who has guided us since the opening of the new Cumberland Valley High School four years ago.

We appreciate his faith in the worth of the individual student, as he has shown by his attention to the problems of each student. His time was ours when in need. He was never too busy to stop in the halls to talk of our school and personal problems. He has respected our opinions, although his own may have been different. He has repeatedly demonstrated his confidence in student government by giving it his whole-hearted support. He has never failed to give full recognition to an individual or a group for work well-done.

Through his dedication to the task of preparing us to be useful and intelligent citizens, may each of us be influenced by his example in the life ahead of us.

THE LIFE OF A SCHOLAR

A little boy, a child yet
Was peeping through an open door.
Inside the room a teacher sat
Amidst forgotten dusty lore.

Beginning there, the child grew
In mind, in height; forgetting toys.
He learned, discovered, wept and knew,
Of life, its ways, its tears, and joys.

Come in, my love, and she drew near,
Now don't you cry, I'm not that cruel!
For this is your room now, my dear,
For this is your first day at school.

And then, as time recast the mold
That formed his life, an hour was dear
And time was twain; a summer's gold
And then . . . a longer winter drear.

There came a change, now, in his life
For from a sheltered one room class
He stepped into a freshman's life
With hopes, and dreams, and then a lass.

But now the storm was gathering fast,
The tribes came, the world was cupped
And in the pool there formed, was cast
A drowning boy, now growing up.

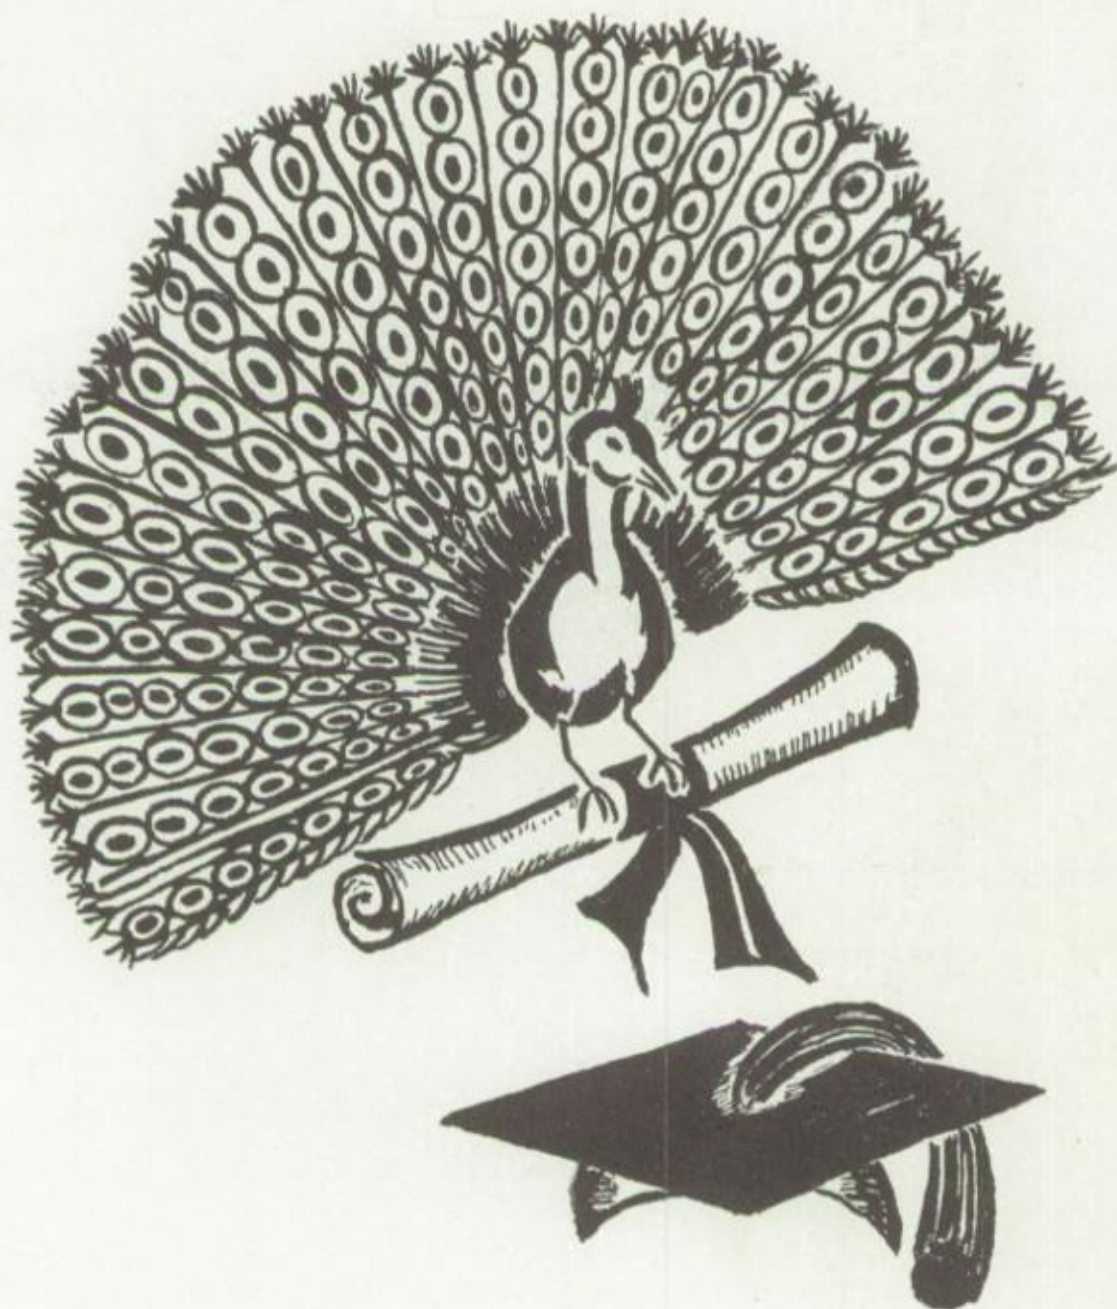

A Sophomore finds school means good times
With dance, and song; a whole new card
It dealt, and with it comes the sign
Of parting with the scholar's garb.

A Junior lives and dies with tears
And sorrows that he cannot bear.
He's driven, worked, and faced with fears
And hate till he no longer cares.

A Senior's life is full enough
Of all the good and joyous things.
And he is happy, till his bluff
Is called by graduation stings.

The life is done, now, that you've known,
And all your life you've fought the ban
Of life forbade, but now alone . . .
You have your life, you are now a man.

TO THE CLASS OF 1958

We wish to congratulate you upon the completion of your high school career. We also want to acknowledge the contributions which you have made to your school.

We know that you have been well schooled in the traditional fundamentals and hope that you also have developed many additional attitudes basic to American behavior, the essential skills of teamwork, initiative, honesty, and such habits as personal cleanliness and common courtesy.

We appreciate your efforts in helping to build a worthwhile tradition for the Cumberland Valley High School. These traditions will become emblematic of your school in the future.

We wish you Godspeed in all your future undertakings and may "Good Fortune" light the way.

Best Wishes.

Thomas A. Clugston

Dear Seniors:
To the Class of 1958:
My Message to You:
Just These Few Words:

Now you belong to that growing body—the Alumni of C.V.H.S. You will be known as the Class of '58, the fourth Class in the young history of our school.

It was a pleasure to live and work with you. Our best wishes go with each of you. Give your best, whatever the task, and success and happiness will be your good fortune.

The welcome mat will always greet you. Remember these lines in the Alma Mater: "May we be always staunch and true to thee our Red and White. As Eagles flying high, may we our standards bear."

Congratulations, Class of 1958. We are proud of you.

This year our great Argus of many eyes saw a clear picture of our first winning season. The Eagles came through with spectacular play and outstanding teamwork of the kind that few schools could overcome. Coach Sanzotto's high-flying team knocked over teams such as Delone, Camp Hill, and more.

When our team was fighting sickness, the ones that remained fought with a ferocity that left our opponents gasping. The Eagles had a desire to win, win, win. The team, spearheaded by the Senior members and backed by a loyal group of fans, has shown a definite desire to be best. With hard work and that same desire to win our future teams can be even better. Thus the Argus forecasts.

Susquehanna game . . .

A big game for the Eagles who beat a higher rated team. The middle of the line and the hard running of the backs earned us a hard victory of 12-6.

Shoe-string tackle by Hensel.

"Another touchdown. 'Yea,' Wentz."

"Stand up straight, boys. Mom's looking."

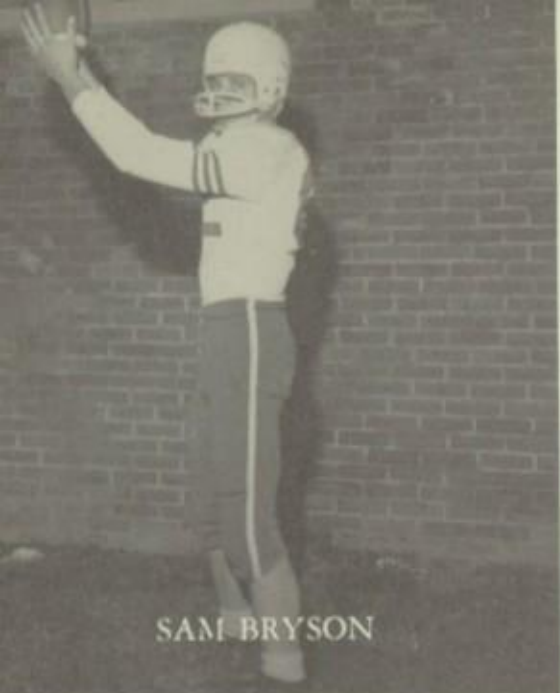

Here come the Eagles.

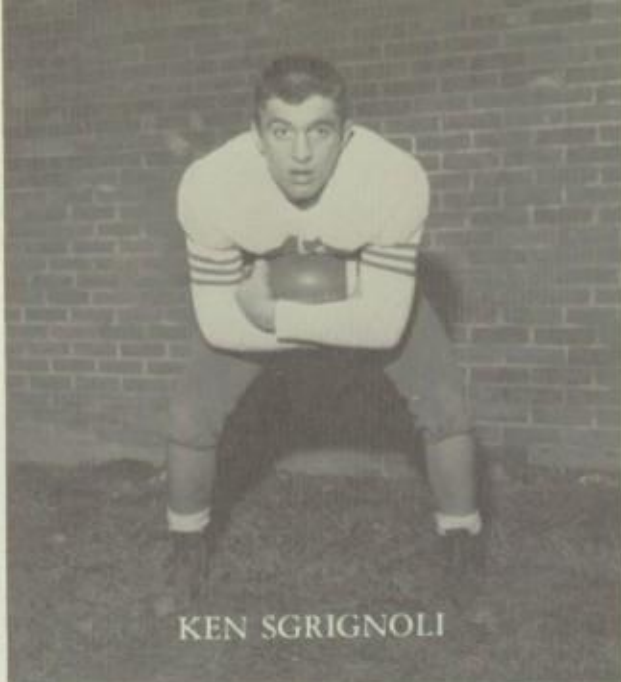

The Northern game . . .

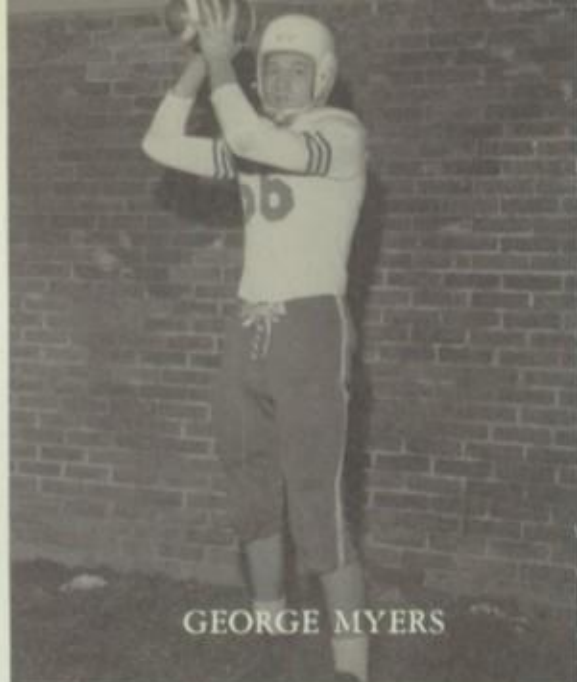

Going to be a big rival game for the Eagles in years to come. This year they came through by winning 53-0 and taking the trophy for the first year.

Visit to the Hardwoods

The 1957-1958 basketball season saw the Cumberland Valley Eagles bring back six lettermen in their attempt to win basketball glory for Cumberland Valley. Although the team had no exceptionally tall players, they were all hustlers. The Eagles did have several men of average height in George Myers, Paul Burkhart, Bob Roberts, Roy Pepper, Bob Wilson, and Jim Holthaus. Among the scat men were Steve Duffie, John Bare, Jim Moyer, Bill Clemenston, and Milton Kautz. From these men, Coach Martin moulded a top flight hardwood crew and managed to develop a marvelous spirit of team cooperation and determination.

As a team, the Eagles ended up in second place of their section, with a six and two record—in a tough Lower Susquehanna Conference.

Cumberland Valley victorious matmen climaxed a brilliant season by beating Juniata Joint for the championship of their section. This was the first championship won by the Eagles in a period of two years. Cumberland Valley was represented through the rugged district matches by Barry McCoy. Rodney Ward just missed by a very close decision of one to zero.

The season's success was due to the fine coaching of Joe Carr. Under his guidance for two years. This team was a well balanced team in all weight classes, it will long be remembered in Cumberland Valley.

For the second straight season the Cumberland Valley Eagles were runners up (Carlisle). With the return of only three seniors the Eagles had a very good season with great help from the very fine talent of the juniors.

The squad was built around Bill Law at catcher, Dennis Rider first base, Charlie Sheriff at second, Larry Breiner at third, Jim Moyer at short, with outfielders consisting of Marlin Hensel, John Bare, and Walt Simmons. Alternating boys were Rodney Ward and Tim Murphy. Steve Duffie and John Bare were the winning pitchers. Bare led the team in batting averages with 349. The team had a seven and seven record which they won three games by one run and lost three games by one run.

"Safe at first."

Tracksters Fly High

With the number of boys out for track climbing, the success of the sport is also improving. The team this year had an overall record for the season in dual and triangular meets of five wins and two losses. The Eagles also took second place out of eleven schools in the conference meet. Cumberland Valley's team coached by Max Smith scored thirty seven and one half points. In the Hanover relays we placed second in the mile, fifth in medley relay. In District Three meet, at Lancaster, we placed fourth in the mile.

For the season Paul Burkhart led the team with an out-of-this-world total of ninety-five points—With George Myers racking up eighty-nine.

There are thirteen letter winners.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In recognition of the invaluable aid received in the publication of this yearbook. I wish to express my sincere gratitude and acknowledgement to the following: Our competent and qualified advisors; a conscientious and dependable staff; a co-operative administration; a generous school board; a skilled photographer; and an enthusiastic student body. I also would like to pay special tribute to Miss Joyce McCloskey, student art teacher from Penn State, for her creative art work, which she has so graciously contributed.

ALMA MATER

(Tune: "In Steadfast Faith I Stand" by J. S. Bach)

My Cumberland Valley High
Will teach, will guide my life.
The Alma Mater I love dear
Holds high the faith in strife.
Our school has pledged her trust
For all to understand.
A gift of education,
Hail! Hail to Cumberland.

By Robert Elicker,

Dear Cumberland Valley High
We raise our colors bright.
May we be always staunch and true
To thee our Red and White.
As Eagles flying high
May we our standards bear.
That we may ever cherish thee
For now and forever more.
